Seminar Title | How do students spend their time? The results of a survey of first year students at Maynooth University
---|---
Proposed Date | 14 May 2019
Learning Outcomes | – Use Moodle and Microsoft Office to create data set based on ‘time budgets’ completed by approximately 800 first year students in semester 1 and semester 2

  – Compare semester 1 and 2 ‘time budget’ data to gain a better understanding of the first year experience, progression, and variation within degree programme

  – Use the student ‘time budget’ data set as the basis for reflective writing by students about time management, student life, academic development, and how their experience compares to their peers

  – Gain an understanding of basic statistical methods by using Excel to calculate correlations, mode, mean, and median using the data set

  – Provide an opportunity for creative and critical thinking by using the data set to create a data visualization

Seminar Title
Effectively supporting study transitions to improve student engagement, wellbeing, progression, attainment and success

Proposed Date
08 January 2019

Learning Outcomes
- Examine the student lifecycle, identify key transition points and their associated challenges
- Explore possibilities for enhancing student engagement and better preparing students at each stage from FY induction to ‘outduction’
- Be introduced to and explore the ‘Student Experience Transitions Model’ that interlinks the key activities of academic, welfare and support. The model provides a framework for colleagues to organise and map out the various types of support required for different students at particular times throughout their journey at university or college
- Share practice with colleagues from other institutions and make connections for collaborative projects
- Have a facilitated discussion on how student engagement might be best enhanced at different stages from pre-entry to post-graduation
